“Textbook prices are criminal. A New Calc 2 textbook was $340. WTF? Put whoever set that price behind bars.”
“I try to survive a few classes without the book until the money is saved up.”
“Sometimes I have to wait to order them online and I don’t get the books as early as I need them.”
“The price of textbooks is typically extortionate, but necessary so it usually places a great strain on me financially during the month I purchase my books.”
What are OER?
What are OER?

"OER are teaching, learning and research resources that reside in the public domain or have been released under an intellectual property license that permits their free use and repurposing by others. Open educational resources include full courses, course materials, modules, textbooks, streaming videos, tests, software and any other tools, materials or techniques used to support access to knowledge."

Textbook-free degree
With TCC’s Z-Degree, here’s what you pay for books: Zero.
Did you know that

- Textbook prices have risen 82% in the last decade?
- You might pay hundreds a semester for textbooks?
- Textbooks could be 25% or more of your college costs?
Bucks County Community College’s Strategic Initiative Proposal

Reducing the Costs of Gateway Courses by Replacing Textbooks with Open Educational Resources

• President challenged all College employees to propose projects aimed at increasing enrollments.
• Proposal originated in Learning Resources Department.
• Proposal endorsed and submitted by Provost and Academic Deans February 2016.
• Recommended for funding by Planning Advisory Group March 2016.
• Approved for funding by President’s Cabinet March 2016.
The OER Strategic Initiative

Identify and transition ten gateway courses (high enrollment courses offered early in the student’s semester sequence, required in many programs of study) from the use of high cost textbooks to free open educational resources.
Personnel

• Project Managers
• 2 Faculty Developers per course (originally)
• Instructional Design consultant
• Universal Design consultant
• 1 Librarian Liaison per course
Prep Work

Spring 2016

- Create job descriptions for the two consultants.
- Develop an OER/Universal Design/Quality Matters workshop for faculty participants.
- Select courses.
- Select project participants.
- Hire Instructional Design and Universal Design consultants.
Project Timeline

Phase 1: Summer/Fall 2016
- Transition online versions of 3 courses from textbooks to OER.

Phase 2: Spring/Summer 2017
- Run selected online sections of 3 courses.
- Transition 7 more courses to OER.
- Adapt initial 3 courses for use in other modalities.
- Assess impact.
Project Timeline

Phase 3: Fall 2017
- Run selected online sections of 7 courses.
- Participating sections of initial 3 courses run in all modalities.
- 7 courses adapted for use in other modalities.
- Assess impact.

Phase 4: Spring 2018
- Participating sections of all 10 courses run using OER.
- Assess impact.
Expected Outcomes

SHORT-TERM

• Reduced total costs to students of 10 gateway courses;
• Increased student success in those courses based on better access to materials;
• More students attracted to the College;
• Opportunity to market the innovative image of the College.

LONG-TERM

• Participating sections of gateway courses act as incentive for other faculty to use OER;
• Complete OER programs of study will be developed;
• Cost reduction increases students’ ability to complete;
• Persistence and retention numbers rise and enrollments increase.
• Faculty become more aware of UDL principles and other online best practices.
The Phase 1 Courses

• COMM110: Effective Speaking
• MGMT100: Introduction to Business
• PSYC110: Introduction to Psychology
The Phase 2 Courses

• COMP110: English Composition I
• HLTH103: Life and Health
• MATH090: Prealgebra
• SCIE102: Astronomy
• SOCL110: Introduction to Sociology
The Project Evolves & Adapts

• Some course designers prefer to work solo.

• By necessity, some templates are adapted for F2F in the first semester of work.

• The 3rd Wave of course designers & librarians will create their templates through Fall 2017 to run in Spring 2018.
The 3rd Wave (a.k.a The Latecomers)

- COMP111: English Composition II
- HIST151: US History: Young America
- VAFA193: Modern Art History
Project Timeline, revised

Phase 1: Summer/Fall 2016

- Transition online versions of 3 courses from textbooks to OER.
- Run selected online sections of 3 courses.
- Transition 5 more courses to OER; begin transition of 3 more.
- Adapt initial 3 courses for use in other modalities—if not already done in Phase 1.
- Assess impact.

Phase 2: Spring/Summer 2017

- Run selected online sections of 3 courses.
- Transition 5 more courses to OER; begin transition of 3 more.
- Adapt initial 3 courses for use in other modalities—if not already done in Phase 1.
- Assess impact.
Project Timeline, revised

Phase 3: Fall 2017
- Run selected online sections of 5 courses.
- Complete transition of last 3 courses.
- Participating sections of initial 3 courses run in all modalities—if it didn’t already happen.
- Second 5 courses adapted for use in other modalities—if not already done.
- Assess impact.

Phase 4: Spring 2018
- Participating sections of all 10 courses run using OER.
- Assess impact.
Questions Arise

• How will the course templates be shared with other interested faculty?
• How will OER sections be identified?
• How will the course templates be maintained and updated?
